

Alicia Rambaldi

Alicia N. Rambaldi, a Professor in the School of Economics at the University of Queensland, Australia, joined IARIW in 2012 and has maintained an active role in the association via engagement in general conferences – attended all conferences since 32nd; editorial board member for the Review of Income and Wealth since 2015; and a member of the Kendrick Prize Selection Committee since 2016. Since joining she has been actively involved in developing proposals, organizing sessions, and as a discussant. Her research in areas of housing and land prices and international comparisons has been in the program at every general conference since she joined. Professor Rambaldi is currently the Director of Research at the School of Economics, University of Queensland (Australia) and maintains close engagement with official statistics' methodology as a member of the Methodology Advisory Committee of the Australian Bureau of Statistics, which she joined in 2017.